I Corinthians for Today's Church

In the midst of the divisions within today's church and society, we will study Paul's first letter to a divided Corinthian church. We will seek to understand the cultural, sociological, and religious context of the letter. We will explore the theological issues in the church in Corinth with a special emphasis for the implications for the life and ministry of the church today.

Taught by Peter Hintzoglou
Monday evenings, 6:30-9:00 pm
April 18 - June 13
(The class will meet on Memorial Day)

San Marino Community Church
1750 Virginia Rd.
San Marino, CA 91108

Dr. Peter Hintzoglou was born in Athens, Greece with the dream of coming to the States to study for the ministry. In 1961 God opened the door for him to come to Barrington College in Rhode Island where he majored in Philosophy and Biblical Studies earning his BA with summa cum laude. He was accepted at Fuller Seminary earning his Doctorate of Pastoral Theology D.Th.P. Dr. Hintzoglou has served as Senior Pastor in several Presbyterian churches and continues to serve as adjunct faculty for Fuller Seminary.
